

Water: The First Ingredient in Every Hamburger!

After you've flipped through our giant hamburger, test your memory by matching up the ingredients on the right to the correct number of gallons it takes to grow or produce each. Then color, cut out, and stack your own burger. And remember, every time you bite into a real hamburger, you have California's WATER to thank for it!

